In an unusual turn of events, SAD44 towns appear likely to see their school bills go down

The situation is due to a combination of factors: the carry-vestment account was recog-

Towns will pay a combined total of about $400,000 less than last year.

The decrease for each town is as follows: Andover, $44,997; Bethel $147,964; Greenwood, $43,497; Newry, $128,198; and Woodstock, $42,052.

Upton CEO founders in wake of marina dispute

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Bob Folsom might yet get to build his commercial marina on Lake Umbagog in Upton, but he is out of his job as the town's code enforcement officer, as well as plumbing and building inspector.

After listening to complaints from a half dozen residents Tuesday evening, selectmen Rodney Goodrum and Marie Aron voted not to renew Folsum's one-year employment arrangement with the town. (Board Chairman Paul Casey, who has opposed Folsom's marina proposal, recused himself from Tuesday's discussion and vote.)

Folsom (who was hired last month as Bethel's full-time CEO) had filled the three parttime positions in Upton since late 2004.

According to his own view of events, there had been no complaints about his work until early last fall, when he unveiled plans to build a commercial marina on Peasley

The proposal proved highly unpopular with some residents (the marina plan is currently in front of the town Appeals Board).

As tensions in the town regarding the proposal mounted, there began to be complaints

New chick in town — great eyes

This emu chick is one of four purchased recently by Scott Hynek of Bethel, who plans to breed the birds. Native to Australia, the flightless emus grow to a height of five to six feet, and can weigh up to 150 pounds. Hynek purchased the chicks, now about three weeks old, from a high school science class in Vermont, which breeds them as a project each year. The birds are often sold for their meat. Hynek said that after a female lays a clutch of eight to 10 emerald-colored eggs, the male incubates them for approximately 50 days. The female then goes off to look for a new - and often younger - mate.

An Alp ascent to help maintain Whitecap

By MICHAEL DANIELS

"I really love this mountain, and I want to help protect it,' says Meika Hashimoto.

The mountain in question is Rumford Whitecap, and to help protect it Meika is preparing to climb another much taller and far more challenging mountain thousands of miles away - the famed Matterhorn, on the border between Switzerland and Italy.

Last month the Mahoosuc Land Trust completed a successful $714,000 fundraising drive that enabled the organization to purchase a 761-acre parcel of land that includes part of the Whitecap summit.

The fundraising, however, did not include money that will be needed for the longterm maintenance of the land and the popular trails there.

And that's where Meika plans to step up, with a fundraising campaign of her own, linked to an August ascent of the Matterhorn.

"I've hiked Whitecap since I was a kid and every summer my family treks up there to pick blueberries for pies and jam," she said. "Being able to climb a large mountain to protect a mountain in my childhood backyard is enormously

Throughout Maine history, the Androscoggin River has been a friend to man. But the waterway could just as easily grow into a threatening tide that turned against him, destroying and washing away homes and businesses.

The many roles the river has played will be the subject of an exhibition opening June 2 at the Bethel Historical Society.

Entitled "A River's Journey: A Story of the Androscoggin," the exhibition will focus primarily on the history of the entire river, but will include considerable information on the Bethel area.

facts, he said. The great water road

The Androscoggin was known in colonial days as "the great water road," said Bennett.

"In the winter the Indians walked on it and used it as a road," he said. "And the early settlers coming into towns used it because it was so difficult carrying things in on trails."

From the 1760s to the 1950s, log drives were an important - and dangerous - use of the river.

"A lot of people were injured or killed on the drives," said Bennett. "I was amazed at how many flog driversl couldn't swim."

In 1873, a huge log jam blocked the falls in Rumford so extensively that the water was barely visi-

Bennett said such jams were often dispersed by blowing them up with black powder. A man with a rope tied around his waist would work his way through the jam to light the fuse. Other men would then pull him back toward shore as quickly as possible before the powder exploded.

GREENWOOD SIGNS

To the Editor:

Greenwood Historical Society has voted to start raising funds to purchase Greenwood City and Locke's Mills signs.

At the 2007 Town Meeting, the citizens voted down the town's sign article along with many others to help cut the budget.

Greenwood City and Locke's Mills are the only villages that ever existed within the township of Greenwood. The city burned in 1862 and Locke's Mills has been gradually disappearing since the 1950s.

The Historical Society thinks in several more generations no one will ever know the two villages ever existed.

The society wants to raise the funds for five signs: three for Greenwood City and two for Locke's Mills.

The cost per sign and post will be around $120, for a total of $600 for all five signs and posts. The project is more than the society can afford on their own so they are asking for donations. Anyone wishing to donate to this cause, please contact me at 875-3726 or write to P.O. Box 175,

Greenwood, ME 04255. The Locke's Mills signs will have the original spelling with the apostrophe "s"

As soon as the Historical Society can raise the $600, the town office will order the new signs.

WMNF BIRD WALK

To the Editor:

In celebration of International Migratory Bird Day, the White Mountain National Forest will host an early morning bird walk Saturday, May 12, from 7 to 9 a.m. (rain date Sunday, May 13).

The gathering place is the parking area at the intersection of Route 113 and the Wild River Road, three miles south of U.S. Forest Service Wildlife Biologist Lesley Rowse will lead those interested on this walk over gentle terrain and help identify a variety of birds, many of which are returning north on their migratory journey from Central and South America, Mexico and the Caribbean.

Come dressed for the weather and bring your binoculars, camera, bird book and comfortable walking shoes. All are welcome to come along, especially families.

For more information (and in case of weather cancellation), please call (603) 466-2713, ext. 231.

WES/WPTA HEALTH, SAFETY FAIR

To the Editor:

The Woodstock Elementary School staff and WPTA would like to invite community members to our first Community Health and Safety Fair scheduled for Saturday, May 19, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Woodstock School on Rumford Avenue in Bryant Pond.

The event will feature a variety of activities to promote health and well being including samples of healthy dishes to taste, some fun snacks to make and take, a book of healthy recipes from the families and staff members of the Woodstock Elementary School, fun physical activities for the whole family to enjoy, free massages and Reike, blood pressure screening, tips on skin cancer prevention, what to do about ticks, and information on fire safety.

Also included will be a station on bike safety with a bike helmet fitting, basic spring bike check, and a safety course set up for riders to learn the "rules of the road."

There will be free helmets available to WES students and their siblings provided by the WPTA. Other community members are welcome to bring their helmets to be checked for a proper fit. All bike riders testing out the safety course will be required to wear a helmet.

If the weather doesn't make it possible to have our bike course outside, we will still offer all other activities inside the

There are many community members who have volunteered their time to make this event possible. We all look forward to seeing you there.

A.I.A. BAKE SALE THANKS

To the Editor:

The Albany Improvement Association would like to publicly thank everyone who donated to its "No Bake" Bake Sale.

Because of the great response we have been able to upgrade the electrical system and are looking forward to having a work day to complete some necessary work, such as painting and puttying the windows.

Also, the Albany Improvement Association is getting ready for its annual summer yard sale.

We are accepting donations at this time. So if anyone is spring cleaning and has items they would like to donate, they can contact Buzzy Lapham at 824-2568 or Norma Salway at 824-2305.

JOYCE STEARNS, JUNE STEARNS AND EVA CONROY

To the Editor:

Last week's issue contained the obituaries of three individuals that I have known for some time and had numerous conversations with over the years. It doesn't seem quite right that I let their deaths pass without some commentary about what they meant to me.

I usually saw Joyce Stearns in the Bethel Shop and Save. Once she overheard me sharing my objections to winter with someone I met in the store. I was telling this person how I didn't mind winter as long as we did not get very much cold, wind or ice. My ideal winter is one that included temperatures in the teens and twenties, little wind, cold or ice, and lots of fluffy snow. From that time forward, Joyce never let me forget that she loved winter far more than summer with its heat and pesky insects. I, of course, greatly prefer summer despite its annoyances. I did agree with Joyce that winter was a time I got lots of indoor projects completed, so it had its pluses. Moreover, I told her I liked cross-country skiing and had my own mini-course right in my back woods. Accordingly, the virtues of our particular favorite season became a regular conversation topic with us. She would always extol the beauty of a winter day during that time of the year. Each summer when I saw her I would rejoice in the glories of that season much to her disgust. Regrettably, I won't be able to do that this summer and every hot day will cause me to recall Joyce while I am hopefully immersed at my favorite pool at Letter S.

June Stearns was a former East Bethel resident who lived across the Bethel line in Rumford Corner. She grew up in East Bethel and was once a member of Alder River Grange there. Through the Grange, I knew her mother Myra Foster well and always heard much about June from Myra. For many years, June had made rolls and biscuits for the public suppers at Alder River. This was one example of the many kindnesses and great generosity of spirit that June exemplified. We will certainly miss her breads for the suppers and I will also miss our chats while I was, as Grange treasurer, collecting money for the supper. It was always a good time to catch up on East Bethel news and recall favorite stories of growing up in such a special place.

My final commentary has to expressed just right. Although Eva Conroy never lived in Bethel, she married a man with deep roots here and will be buried here. Eva wrote very well and always appreciated as a former teacher and librarian the work of those she believed did so also. One of the highlights of writing these commentaries following someone's passing was receiving a note from Eva telling how much she enjoyed what I had to say about someone. "I don't know very many of those you write about," she told me at least once. "But after I have read one of your pieces, I think I know that individual," she would add. Eva was gracious and well spoken. My mother also never got over being impressed at what a remarkable house Eva kept. I heard about that every time she met Eva. It was always a pleasure to chat with Eva and is comforting in a way to know that she will rest in Riverside Cemetery, where on my next cemetery tour, I will be able to tip my cap to one I so respected and admired.

UPCOMING AND FREE ARTS EVENTS

To the Editor:

As a member of the Mahoosuc Arts Council, I am always pleased to see the arts come alive in Bethel. During the next few weeks, there are some performing arts events that are free, open to the public, feature local students and should be wonderful. At Gould this week the students will be performing "Pippin," a stage musical with music and lyrics by Stephen Schwartz. This show originally was staged on Broadway and was directed and choreographed by Bob Fosse. Performances of "Pippin" are this evening, Thursday, May 10, and Saturday evening, May 12, at 7:30 p.m. and admission is free.

Another upcoming event is a benefit vocal performance for the Mahoosuc Kids Association on Saturday, May 19, at 7 p.m. at Crescent Park Elementary School. Local vocal students from Claire Hafner Mueller's studio, accompanied by Jonas Mueller on the piano, will perform Broadway Musical numbers as well as selected classical pieces. Everyone has a Broadway favorite and you may just hear yours. Admission is free for this event but donations for the Mahoosuc Kids Association will be gratefully accepted.

Finally, watch for "The Mountain Home Companion," an original production that will be staged by the students at Telstar High School in early June. It should be another terrific performing arts offering. We are lucky to have so many events available, and I would encourage members of the community to support these students in their performing arts efforts.

At Tuesday's Board of Selectmen's meeting, Larry Nelson, a former chairman of that board, read what he described as "concerns from 39 property owners and families residing on and around Peasley Cove."

Those concerns included the allegation that "Folsom circumvented our Site Plan Review, which he was responsible to enforce, to obtain the original marina permit, which was rescinded.'

Nelson also accused Folsom of displaying "irrational and explosive behavior," on several instances when he was dealing with the Planning Board.

And the former Planning Board chairman claimed Folsom was exposing the town to "unreasonable expense and possible cost of a lawsuit."

"He's told several people he will sue the town if he's no longer code enforcer," Nelson claimed.

Nelson concluded by asking using his regulatory posi- fessional we want working for the town of Upton?"

'So much hate'

Responding to Nelson's comments, Folsom acknowledged he had mentioned a lawsuit in the event he was fired, but he said he did so because state law required the selectmen to hold a hearing on the matter before taking any such action.

He said he had always tried to operate in a fair and evenhanded manner when carrying out his town duties, and he did not think he had let the marina dispute influence his decisions.

He then described a conversation, arising from that dispute, in which he was told he could no longer hunt on a neighbor's land.

"I felt hurt. I've been in this town for 20 years and I've never had a problem," Folsom said. "I have not earned this abuse. I have not earned this. People get all upset. There's so much hate in all these people's hearts. I have not had hate toward anybody here. I have not had ill will towards Turning to Nelson's wife, Sue, Folsom said: "Your husband called me a son of a bitch on the way out of the door at the last meeting I attended here.'

"No way!" countered Larry Nelson.

The discussion went on in a similar vein, with heated allegations and denials, for more than an hour.

turned black and blistered in great ugly patches, and by the time you had reached the city limits you had to put up your car windows despite the heat and try not to breathe through your nose.'

The situation was brought before the newly created Maine Sanitary Water Board, and resulted in a survey of the river and a recommendation for steps to improve the water quality.

"Thus, out of the despair and suffering of the populace was born the infant movement to recover the river," wrote Jones.

Floods The exhibit also illustrates years of severe flooding.

In 1896, a winter flood piled ice over Route 2 in Hanover. A narrow path was cleared to allow horses and wagons to pass.

And in 1936, a large flood damaged bridges in Rumford. In Lewiston, hopper cars were loaded with grayel and parked on the railroad bridge across the Androscoggin to anchor the bridge and prevent ice from sweeping it away. In addition to photos, the ex-

THS needs to work on literacy

BETHEL—Results of testing last spring show that Telstar High School needs to address literacy, according to Lee Graham, SAD44's curriculum coordinator. Results from SAT tests of 11th graders showed that 36 percent met state standards for reading, while 45 percent statewide met them. Neither the district nor THS made adequate yearly progress in the subject, as stipulated by the No Child Left Behind Act. In math, 30 percent of THS students met state standards, compared to 47 percent statewide. Both groups made adequate yearly progress in math. "While Telstar and the state did make the arbitrary target for AYP in mathematics, the school is still well below the staté average," Graham wrote in a report. "Mathematics instruction has undergone significant change at Telstar in the past three years. Students' scores should improve yearly." Assessment data and the curriculum should be scrutinized carefully, she said.

SAD44

Clockedile was retained because SAD44 currently does not have a business manager. The district is in a very good cash position," Clockedile told directors Monday.

In a report presented to the board. Clockedile wrote, "Approximately 12-14 years ago, the district established a cash reserve investment account. Annually, deposits from unanticipated revenues and unexpended balances were made into the account and interest accrued was reinvested each year."

But, Clockedile went on, Maine statute requires that unallocated balances in excess of 3 percent of the previous year's school budget must be disbursed to reduce the state and local share of education over a period not to exceed three years."

With a previous school budget of nearly $10 million, the balance should not exceed approximately $300,000, he said.

Clockedile said in the past year, the investment account has earned between $70,000 and $75,000 in interest. No earlier board vote

Because Murphy has not had a business manager in recent months, he has been going over accounting details himself, he said.

Usually, he said, he focuses primarily on building the education side of the budget.

He started questioning the account about five weeks ago, he said, and brought in Clockedile, Murphy told the Citizen. Murphy found no reference in past board meeting minutes to any vote to establish an investment account, he said.

But, he said, the investment account money has appeared in past audits.

The Finance Committee learned of the account balance a week ago, Murphy said. Chairmen of other committees were informed Monday before the regular meeting, and the rest of the board was told through Clockedile's presentation.

During the full board meeting, there was no discussion by directors regarding why the account had accumulated so much money.

Murphy said later that directors had raised questions about the account during the earlier committee meetings.

Pew: No intent to mislead

After the meeting, Murphy said the extra funds had likely resulted from conservative projections each year of estimated revenue for the upcoming year.

Sources of revenue include balance carried forward, tuition receipts, transportation services and other miscellaneous revenue, as well as state subsidy and additional local funds.

"The assumption was that the money could be moved into the account unfettered, and it was not a problem to let it grow," Murphy said.

Murphy was asked who made that assumption.

"Under several administrations over the past 12 to 14 years, it's been a normal procedure." he said. "After reviewing it this year, I questioned if that was the best way to go. I'm responsible for everything that happens in this district. I brought it to the attention of the board, and we developed a long-term plan that is in the best interest of the school sys-

Murphy and Finance Committee chair Sid Pew said there was "no intent to mislead," in Pew's words, regarding the establishment and operation of the account.

Pew said he "didn't want to throw stones" at anyone. He added, "I think Dave Mur-bringing this forward."

Spending it down The investment account must now be reduced to about $300,000 by June 30 of 2009, and Clockedile presented a proposal to accomplish that.

The plan calls for a combination of applying some of the funds to reduce taxes and keeping some for district use:

For FY'07, the current fiscal year, $180,000 from the account had already been designated as carryover from FY'06.

For FY'08, $100,000 would be designated to go toward the budget; for FY'09, $200,000; and for FY'10, $174,000.

The plan also calls for a Capital Reserve Fund of $700,000 to be created for future capital improvement and/or capital construction projects at schools.

The proposal to establish the Capital Reserve Fund will appear as a separate warrant article in the upcoming district referendum.

On Monday, in response to a question from the board, Clockedile said if voters do not wish to spend the money for that purpose, it would remain in the investment account.

He also said such an account cannot be established for the purpose of reducing the district's outstanding debt.

"Aggressive" revenue estimates planned

For the FY'08 budget, Clockedile applied what he described as a more "aggressive" estimate of revenues, producing a higher total than would a conservative approach, such as has been used in the past.

The revenue includes a total of $600,000 to be carried forward ($500,000 from the current budget and $100,000 from the investment account).

"Looking back, the estimates appeared to be conservative," Murphy said. "That will not

School budget hearing scheduled for May 29 The budget includes the elimination of several central office positions and a half dozen appealing, and I'm excited to write letters to friends and family asking them to support me as I climb the Matterhorn to help maintain and protect Whitecap.

Directors also unanimously approved a $207,508 Adult Education budget, down $15,000 from last year.

"My goal," Meika said, "is to raise a dollar for every foot of the Matterhorn, which is 14,693 feet."

Meika, 24, grew up in Abbott Mills, which is located about halfway between Bethel and Rumford. "I like to think of myself as part of both communities," she said. She attended Mountain Valley High School, but transferred to the White Mountains School in Bethlehem, N.H. for her senior year. From there she went on to graduating in est in Peru.

She is currently a grant writer for the Appalachian Mountain Club, and lives in Boston. Before moving off to school, Meika took dance lessons for several years from Sue Farrar and piano lessons from Ruth Silver, both of Bethel.

Foiled by fondue She also learned a lot about climbing from long-time family friend Jim Sysko of Newry, who, with his son, Dustin, will join Meika and her father. Toshio, for the Matterhorn climb. "Jim's led hikes every President's Day up Mt. Washington," Meika said. The President's Day (third Monday in February) hikes up Mt. Washington have been an annual event since 1965. And over that period of more than 40 years, the climbing parties failed to reach the summit on only eight or nine occasions, Sysko estimates. But his success rate on the Matterhorn is not quite so impressive.

too good," Sysko said, "-way too much food."

They set out, but ended up taking the wrong trail and losing too much time to safely complete the climb.

"They say you should be at the top by noon," Sysko said, "because the snow gets soft and slippery and slushy at the top and then you're in danger."

While the summit of the Matterhorn is far higher (14,693 feet) than Mt. Washington (6,288 feet) the elevation gains during the final day of climbing each mountain are similar.

In fact, the final-day's "vertical" on the nearby New Hampshire peak is actually a bit longer than the Matterhorn's 4,256 feet for Mt. Washington (starting from Pinkham Notch), compared to 4,002 feet for the Matterhorn (from the

The plan to restore bank damage at Riverside Cemetery is done. On Friday a meeting was held at the erosion site. About 17 people were present who represented the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS), the town, the cemetery association and interested parties. In face of strong, gusty winds, the assembly was briefed on how the physical aspects of restoration would take place. Then most of the group adjourned to Bethel airport pilots' lounge to finish the paperwork. Construction work will include filling the eroded wedge with gravel out to 22 feet from the deepest cut in the bank, then 180 feet of large rip rap rock will line the bank to defend against future river attacks and finally a ten-foot rock shelf will extend outward from the riprap. This shelf is intended to secure the riverbed; it will rise from the bottom to above the normal river water level. All of this is exhegan office of the NRCS prepared the plan based on findings obtained by numerous NRCS engineering field visits to the site last summer and

NRCS handed over plans and details to Town Manager Scott Cole at the airport. The town will be responsible for getting bids and securing a contractor. Copies were also given to Peter Marcinuk, NRCS district agent. NRCS in Bangor has started obtaining necessary permits which they hope will be in hand by the end of July. Site work might begin in August, Meanwhile on the Crossroad of New England, Mayville Road, Barbeque Bob opened for business this last weekend in his picnic grove at The Good Food Store. Further up the same road, Kathy and I had moose watching occur on successive days. Saturday Kathy watched a large bull moose trot up our field road and cross the highway heading toward Birch Wood. Sunday morning at 6:20 a.m. it happened again. Another moose trotted up the field road and continued on up Route 2 before turning off into the woods near Ron and Cindy Savage's. The Sunday moose was caught on camera.

For the far-flung readers of The Citizen, this is what popped up while we were in Florida, Gas prices at Irving went from $2.89 to $2.96 and then to $2.99 in one week. Mike Pelletier had completed his first condo building of four units in Twitchell Brook Estates. At the entrance to this development stands a grand, roof-enclosed sign. Mahoosuc Realty is the project's agent.

Ross and Carole Timberlake have finished the exterior anyway, of their new shop built with an old-time barn motif on Mayville Road next to their Timberlake's Home Store. It is really a beauty and a fine addition to the Mayville business scene. No weathervane yet, though.

On Parkway Road (outside Mayville) there is a really eye-catching development. It looks like an old English manor house along Bethel's slowly growing retail and office row, Mahoosuc Realty (Cindy Hiebert) and Maine Custom Builders (Francis Dumont) have erected building one of a proposed two-building project known as Parkway Plaza. It looks like three retail stores make up the ground level and the second floor will be residential condos.

Rooster's Roadhouse is now open for Sunday Brunch, This is a change to last year's schedule where they were closed Sundays.

Our weather has been sunny and cool for the last week with a morning temperature range from 32 to 42 degrees and in the late afternoon in the shade the mercury usually dropped to about 53. On the plus side, it is invigorating weather.

Finally, after we abandoned them in December our birds have flocked back to our feeders along with the red and gray squirrels. Twenty-four hours after new seeds were out we had goldfinches and chickadees. Four days later we had purple finches, titmice, robins on the ground and the phoebes are looking up old nests.

Bethel Area Trails

Town Manager Scott Cole discussed two major items of trails interest at the May meeting of the Bethel Area Trails Committee. Both items will come up for voter approval at the town's annual meeting in June:

Plans for a Mayville Loop Trail that would connect existing businesses to enhance their market potential depend on a vote authorizing the town to swap land with the owners of the Norseman Inn, John and Dale Cheney, Mr. Cole brought a new Main Land Development prepared survey map that shows the various trail options and the areas determined to be wetlands in the area to be used for future path-

Last summer, the businesses from the Norseman to the Good Food Store were in favor of both a traditional sidewalk parallel to Mayville Road/US Route 2 as well as being connected by a pathway over adjoining property to the west. Committee member Burnham Martin, who is an advisor from the National Park Service, may have the most knowledge on how this pathway/sidewalk system may eventually work out. Again, last year he was associated with an MDOT representative who saw that our Mayville stretch of highway and businesses has good potential for economic development grants.

At this point further trail development in Mayville, which also could be a first step in a Bethel to Sunday River covered bridge trail for pedestrians and bikers, is on hold pending the June vote.

The new pathway, which had its first actual excavation work done in December 2006, is waiting for paving arrangements to be worked out. Donations of paving work and material would be much appreciated. Jeff Parsons is the person to call at 824-4224 or (800)

Known by three names (Extension of the Pathway, Bethel to Angevine Park, and Link to Mayville Loop) completion of this trail will be a landmark event for this committee and the town. As the name implies it fits into plans for two major long-range projects.

Safe Routes to School was by the town manager. As rethe town has been offered à Maine grant of $96,460 for constructing a sidewalk on Mason Street that would connect Broad Street's sidewalk with Crescent Park School. Vofers must accept this funding at the annual Town Meeting in June. Engineering, work schedules and permits for construction would, according to Mr. Cole, pretty much rule out a before-school opening of the new sidewalk but it could conceivably be finished by Thanksgiving.

Lorrie Hoeh It seems as though I'm in some kind of time warp. When we left on our trip abroad, it was still a winter scene here, with about six inches of snow remaining in the dooryard. When we landed in Vienna, it was late spring with horsechestnut trees in full bloom, lindens all leafed out, tulips and roses blooming, and temperatures in the shirtsleeve numbers.

We arrived home on Saturday evening to a mostly green lawn, blooming forsythia, daffodils, and pulmonaria, and only small patches of white stuff in the woods. The trees are in bud but still quite bare, although the hermit thrush, the whitethroat, and various warblers can be heard in the early morning hours. In addition, it looks as if the phoebe family has built its nest once again within sight of the back porch.

After spending three days in Vienna, where we visited several of the tourist attractions and attended a lovely Mozart/ Strauss concert, we motored down to Slovenia (home of my ancestors) and the breathtaking Julian Alps. Slovenia is about the size of Wales, with just under two million people, joined the European Union last year, and converted to the Euro on Jan. 1, 2007. One can get from the Alps in the north to the Adriatic coast in two hours or less. We hiked in Triglav National Park, around serene lakes, along crystal-clear streams, up to spectacular waterfalls. We visited a Bee Museum (Slovenia is known for developing an important species of bee — the Carniolan strain) and an ethnographic museum, both of these in ancient towns with picturesque architecture and narrow, cobbled streets.

The Slovenian people are warm and hospitable, and we were made very welcome everywhere we stayed, whether in a small gostilna (inn) or a modern hotel. Needless to say, we ate, drank, and made merry, and I have five extra pounds to prove it.

After our stay in the mountains, we spent three days in Ljubljana, the capital city, a blend of medieval, baroque, and everything up to modern architecture. There is a wonderful castle which overlooks the whole city, as well as a huge open-air market. Our quaint, but quite up-to-date, hotel was located in the Old Town, so we were able to walk everywhere, including some delightful restaurants. We had dinner with my second cousin, Ruza; her companion, Bogdan; her daughter-in-law, Natasha; and her grandson, Vivijan. The food was authentic Slovene, and the visit most pleasant.

Another night we dined with young Slovene friends, Milan and Nanja Dragic, whom we had met on a hiking trail in Provence two years ago.

And when we arrived home, we had an e-mail from them announcing that Nanja had given birth on Friday morning to their first child, a son named Nando. Our traveling companions, Hank and Shirley Bowen of Philadelphia. were delighted to have the opportunity to meet some of the local residents on an intimate basis, and I think the feeling was mutual.

One of the big tourist attractions in Slovenia is the Postojna Caves. The southern part of the country is largely karst region, consisting of limestone, which is very porous and full of caves. The Postojna Caves, which we toured, were spectacular and vast. I am usually claustrophobic in caves, but somehow managed to remain untroubled in these, probably owing to both their size and the extensive lighting system underground.

We visited many attractions that Mike and I had seen on previous trips, but which were new to Hank and Shirley. One we returned to was the town of Porec on the Croatian coast of the Istrian Peninsula. It is a medieval town quite modern in infrastructure — perched on a sheltered harbor and full of more of those narrow, cobbled, interesting lanes, a 6th century basilica, and lots of shops and sidewalk cafés. Croatia is due

After our two-night stay in Porec it was time to head for Venice, from where we would fly home. On the way there, we stopped in Lipica (pronounced "Leepeetza"), just east of the Italian border and Trieste.

Lipica is the original home of the famous white Lipizzaner stallions, and is still a breeding and training farm for them. All this goes back to the time Slovenia was part of the Austro-Hungarian Empire for about 500 years until the end of WWI, and the emperors wanted regal horses for their carriages and for riding. The horses were magnificent, and we were interested to learn that they are not born white, but most eventually turn white by the age of five or so, with their skin remaining grav

Our last night was spent in Mestre, on the mainland side of Venice, and we had a wonderful last dinner in a little trattoria that was recommended by the concierge in our hotel. I can't describe the food except to say that it was delicious, the Chianti wine went down a treat, and the dessert was decadently divine. Next morning we awoke at 6 a.m. (that was midnight EDT) and were wheels up about 11 a.m. (5 a.m. EDT); changed planes in Zürich, then landed at Boston Logan at 3:30 p.m. EDT (which was 9:30 p.m. to our tired bodies). Our Boston daughter, Kate, greeted us at the airport. a nice surprise, and she visited with us until our Concord Trailways bus came to take us back to Portland and our car.

Now we are getting re-acclimated and tending to all the mundane tasks that accumulate while one is away.

Thanks to Roberta Taylor, our plants were well tended, the porch screens were up, and Jake was in fine fettle and happy to see us. Now I need to hear from you about what has been happening around these parts in our absence. 836-3011; dhoeh@megalink.net.

by Richard Snuffy is getting older and a little bit sensitive about some things,

For example, if he is lying comfortably in the back seat of the car when we get home, sometimes he will growl softly, deep down in his throat when I make him get out. A few days ago, we took Katrina with us to the Inn for a while; I rode in the back seat with Snuffy. When we came back out to the car, Kate (who loves dogs) started to get into the back seat; Snuffy took her hand in his mouth, gently, but firmly enough that Kate decided she didn't want to sit next to him. A similar thing happened one day last week, when Ron Kendall, who didn't know Snuffy was in the truck, started to get into the truck to move it out of the way for someone else. He suddenly found Snuffy's muzzle right snugly up against the back of his neck. Ron decided he didn't want to move the truck right then!

A couple weeks ago, Craig and Jane Ryerson and Jack and Sue Cross went to Puerto Rico for a few days. The first couple nights they had several roosters crowing all night right outside their motel windows. It didn't take them long to find another motel! Then, Craig got Jack a birthday present — a stuffed rooster! I wouldn't be surprised if Craig received the rooster back one of these days!

The weather over the weekend was just great.

The wind was quite strong at times, but there was plenty of sunshine to keep the temperature at a pleasant level. Our grandchildren, William and Annie Chapman, were visiting over the weekend. Hugh and I went to Tim and Michele's in Gorham, N.H, to spend some time with them and our other granddaughter, Sidney. We decided to come home by way of the North Road, and in several shady places, there were still small snowbanks left over.

My brother, Steve McLain, had some help from his son, Brad, over the weekend. They got quite a lot of yard work

We visited many attractions that Mike and I had seen on previous trips, but which were new to Hank and Shirley. One we returned to was the town of Porec on the Croatian coast of the Istrian Peninsula. It is a medieval town quite modern in infrastructure - perched on a sheltered harbor and full of more of those narrow, cobbled, interesting lanes, a 6th century basilica, and lots of shops and sidewalk cafés. Croatia is due to join the EU in 2009.

After our two-night stay in Porec it was time to head for Venice, from where we would fly home. On the way there, we stopped in Lipica (pronounced "Leepeetza"), just east of the Italian border and Trieste.

Lipica is the original home of the famous white Lipizzaner stallions, and is still a breeding and training farm for them. All this goes back to the time Slovenia was part of the Austro-Hungarian Empire for about 500 years until the end of WWI, and the emperors wanted regal horses for their carriages and for riding. The horses were magnificent, and we were interested to learn that they are not born white, but most eventually turn white by the age of five or so, with their skin remaining

Our last night was spent in Mestre, on the mainland side of Venice, and we had a wonderful last dinner in a little trattoria that was recommended by the concierge in our hotel. I can't describe the food except to say that it was delicious, the Chianti wine went down a treat, and the dessert was decadently divine. Next morning we awoke at 6 a.m. (that was midnight EDT) and were wheels up about 11 a.m. (5 a.m. EDT); changed planes in Zürich, then landed at Boston Logan at 3:30 p.m. EDT (which was 9:30 p.m. to our tired bodies). Our Boston daughter, Kate, greeted us at the airport, a nice surprise, and she visited with us until our Concord Trailways bus came to take us back to Portland and our car.

Now we are getting re-acclimated and tending to all the mundane tasks that accumulate while one is away. Thanks to Roberta Taylor, our plants were well tended, the porch screens were up, and Jake was in fine fettle and happy to see us. Now I need to hear from you about what has been happening around these by Richard Grover Snuffy is getting older and a little bit sensitive about some things.

For example, if he is lying comfortably in the back seat of the car when we get home, sometimes he will growl softly, deep down in his throat when I make him get out, A few days ago, we took Katrina with us to the Inn for a while; I rode in the back seat with Snuffy. When we came back out to the car, Kate (who loves dogs) started to get into the back seat; Snuffy took her hand in his mouth, gently, but firmly enough that Kate decided she didn't want to sit next to him. A similar thing happened one day last week, when Ron Kendall, who didn't know Snuffy was in the truck, started to get into the truck to move it out of the way for someone else. He suddenly found Snuffy's muzzle right snugly up against the back of his neck. Ron decided he didn't want to move the truck right then! A couple weeks ago. Craig and Jane Ryerson and Jack and Sue Cross went to Puerto Rico for a few days. The first couple nights they had several roosters crowing all night right outside their motel windows. It didn't take them long to find another motel! Then, Craig got Jack a birthday present — a stuffed rooster! I wouldn't be surprised if Craig received the rooster back one of these days!

The weather over the weekend was just great.

The wind was quite strong at times, but there was plenty of sunshine to keep the temperature at a pleasant level. Our grandchildren, William and Annie Chapman, were visiting over the weekend. Hugh and I went to Tim and Michele's in Gorham, N.H, to spend some time with them and our other granddaughter, Sidney. We decided to come home by way of the North Road, and in several shady places, there were still small snowbanks left over.

My brother, Steve McLain, had some help from his son, Brad, over the weekend. They got quite a lot of yard work done and finished stacking the last of the cut-up firewood. Steve has been busy getting calls from people who want to get their window screens fixed for the summer. Maybe these people have seen some of the mosquitoes that have recently appeared. They are about the size of hummingbirds!

We had not seen the pair of cardinals lately, but they were at the feeder last Sunday. He looks so pretty with the sun shining on him. There were also a couple of birds that we had not seen in a few years. A pair of blackburnian warblers landed in the bush beside the feeder. They have not got their summer color as much as the goldfinches have. The male blackburnian warbler has a bright orange throat and the female is much lighter, almost vellow.

Bill and Gale Tout stopped by our house over the weekend to take care of some business for the Gilead Historical Society. They were telling us that the latest visitor at their birdfeeder was a bear. He (or she) stopped by and decided to leave with their feeder. Bill found it in the woods the next day and needless to say there was not much left of it.

Our son, Tim, had a bear visit their house in the middle

ATTENTION LOT OWNERS BETHEL RIVERSIDE CEMETERY

In our ongoing effort to make our cemetery as attractive as possible, it is requested that any faded, wilted, or dying flowers or shrubbery, or other unsightly materials be removed prior to May 15th.

Any such remaining will be removed by the cemetery prior to Memorial Day.

Thank you for your assistance. BRCA Board of Directors of the night also. He left several tracks around the house and across the road into the woods. Tim showed me one of the tracks and the claw marks were still visible in the mud. The print was at least 10 inches long. I try to learn as little as possible about bears, but it was interesting to see the large paw print,

Speaking of visits, Janis Black from Zephyrhills, Fla., was here for a short visit and a cup of coffee with me on May 2. We caught up on a few happenings and enjoyed the brief time spent together.

The potluck supper, barn dance and Celtic music of Polly and Kevin's was very well attended this past Saturday.

Sandee Dunn can look down upon the den of a fox. It is under Frank Lowell's open woodshed. It has an entrance under one side and another on the opposite side. Sandee has seen four babies.

The fox across from my neighbor's made an appearance Sunday. I hadn't seen it for several weeks. Perhaps I'll soon see some little foxes.

The turkey hunting season is well underway. Doug at the Trading Post will let me know what the total count is at the end of the season.

DBA: Serendipity Café and Bakery

Owner Joyce Donnaruma (left) recently opened the Serendipity Café and Bakery in the Casablança building in Bethel. The café offers sandwiches, salads, soups, breakfast items (including breakfast sandwiches), drinks, Carrabassett coffee and daily specials. Boar's Head meats are a feature. The bakery offers a variety of breads, pastries and desserts, as well as specialty cakes. "You can order anything you want," says Donnaruma. "Everything is baked fresh daily." Call-in orders are welcome (824-0202). Hours are 6:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily. Donnaruma has 20 years of restaurant management experience and another 13 years of retail experience. Serendipity, she said, "came about through a lot of prayer." Pictured with Donnaruma are Zach Gray, Donna Lowe and Dee Fournier.

was given a luncheon in honor of his 40 years of service to Oxford Networks. There were about 35 family members, friends and co-workers present. The fare was pizza and Italian sandwiches ending with a large cake. He was given a fishing creel and a gift certificate to L.L. Bean's. His wife, Brenda, and daughter, Eden, were there. Brenda was given a plant. A performance by comedian Mike Miclon from Buckfield was part of the celebration for Bob.

In last week's column, I said it was the downy woodpecker who is building its nest. It is the hairy. He is still at it two weeks later; it must be almost completed as it is able to get into the nest without any of its body showing.

This week, I drove to a small spot nearby that has a few mayflowers growing each year. I usually pick only four or five in order not to deplete the root system.

Here it is early May and the woodstove is still needed. It sure puts a dusting on everything in the kitchen. A bit of needed shelf cleaning is not high on my priority list. I'd rather be in the out-of-doors.

There were some dirty old showbanks to greet us, but they are going away a little every day. The only things growing in my garden are lungwort, day lily shoots and chives. I expected to see daffodils blooming, but a few green stalks tell me they are still tücked beneath the road gravel and soil.

We lost a great friend last weekend. Jean Swasey died. We all remember her as our dedicated mail lady and Warden John Swasey's devoted wife. She was a quiet, beautiful and productive woman. Members of the Albany Camp, Vance Bacon, Joe Perham, Dennis Doyon, Gary Inman, and Gregg Inman spent the weekend with Milt Inman at the camp. This was a late Groundhog Weekend. The entire weekend was not just for watching for that automatic hole digger known as Mr.

Groundhog, but used to sweep out the winter's accumulation of cobwebs and refresh many well-told stories and those that will be re-enacted by the warming fire of the evening. Of course with a crew of that size, I expect a considerable amount of good eating took

A short while ago, I had the pleasure of talking with Eleazer Peabody, and he assured me that there would be a new story coming out at the everpopular reading spot on the Net. www.maineoutdoorstoday.com/Eleazer_Peabody. Be sure to check out the site for a new and exciting story by Eleazer Peabody. For sure, there will be a number of readers that will recognize a number of details in the past tales.

Last week, I wrote about the infamous Mr. Woodchuck. Well, on Monday morning as I made my way out for the morning paper there he sat. I swear upon a tall stack, he gave me the number one salute. Do you suppose he was just a bit upset about finding his summer cottage well rearranged? I think I'm going to relocate him to a far away spot on the earth called Norway by the way of a Hav-A-Hart trap. I know what my good buddy, Tater, would do and I can hear him saying, "you fool, you."

Friday evening's Post 68 Bingo proceeds were donated to help defer the expenses for Jeri Greenwell's run for the American Legion Auxiliary National Chaplin. A number of the Bethel members were at the Post to help out and much appreciated. We all wish Jeri good luck.

The Greenwood Firemen's Association is selling chances on a very nice propane grill. You know, it is getting that time to be doing some of the cooking outside to reduce the temperature inside and this grill will sure make it easy.

The association is trying very hard to help offset the expense of needed equipment for the department and each member needs our support. So stop by the Town Office to see the grill and buy a fistful of tickets. On the other hand, any member can sell you all you want and if all else fails, let me know as I do have a very good connection. Tickets are $1 each or six for $5. The drawing will be on Sunday, July 1,

Saturday morning, as usual I visited the annual open house at Dave's Small Engine Repair on Route 26 in Oxford. Dave, Paula and their son own and operate this customer service orientated business. It is always a pleasure to stop in and get the latest in estate maintenance equipment. Course my favorite is the Gravely line and Anita will attest to that in a heartbeat. In addition, the Patrys carry several other well-known and respected lines of equipment for your every need from mowing, trimming, chipping, splitting, sawing. Moreover, the service of any piece of equipment is promptly attended to with experience and personnel care.

The Tri-Town Rescue Auxiliary will be selling Birthday Calendars for the month of July very soon. So keep your ear tuned and your wallet open. The Auxiliary is raising money to renovate the crew quarters at the rescue barn.

Last Friday, Anita had a doctor's appointment at Martin's Point in Portland. She has had the same doctor there for the past 15 years and is very happy. She had a good checkup and then had to buy lunch at the Cole Farms in Gray. She even drove home while I had a little nap. Life is wicked good!

Saw my ol' fishing buddy in Wal-Mart the other day. Paul and Nancy have returned from their winter trip to Florida. Paul was happy to get back and looking forward to get up to Wilson's Mills and the big pond.

Brother Ray, Noreen and the puppies were in Boston for the weekend. Seems there was a birthday party for two grandsons. Will was one and big brother Nicholas a big three. Also, their cousin, Logan, who will be two this summer, was having a good time with his cousins. Needless to say, but the grandparents and puppies returned home very tired.

Time to sign off and get to bed early for a change. Have a dental appointment tomorrow in Togus for a cleaning. So keep the sun on your face and be happy!

Andover by Melinda

Averill Andrea Bretz Savitz, president of Ando-

Circle (ASC). has asked me to remind every one that this coming Saturday, May 12, is Andover Community Clean-up Day (with a rain date of Sunday, May 13). Further, she informed me that ASC is happy to announce the first sponsorship coalition for this event with the Roxbury ATV Riders Club. As in past years, anyone and everyone who can spare a little time to volunteer for the roadside Andover Community Clean-up is asked to gather at Andover Town Hall at 8:30 a.m. for bags, rubber gloves and a suggested assignment. The close of another yearly clean-up will be celebrated with refreshments at Andover Town Hall from approximately 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Attention Andover Library patrons: the library is going to change its hours for the summer months, starting Memorial Day Weekend.

The new hours will be Monday through Thursday from 1, to 4:30 p.m; and Thursday from 6 to 8 p.m. Saturday hours will resume after Labor Day week-

The Calvary Bible Church, South Andover, is holding a 2in-1 family movie event for the whole community this Friday, May 11. "Facing the Giant," as shown in theaters, will be the feature movie, suitable for upper elementary ages through adults, and will be shown on CBC's new, big-screen theaterstyle system.

At the same time, an event for the "littles and wigglers" will be offered downstairs, complete with a movie, puppets, games, songs, crafts and a special snack. The evening will kick off at 5:30 with pizza and a six-foot sub supper. Movie events begin following the meal.

There is no cost for this funfilled family evening event. For more information, contact Pastor Ken Wagstaff at 392-

There will be a grand opening at Martin Sales and Service, Main Street, Andover, on Friday, May 11, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. (tomorrow!). Stop by and meet the new proprietors, Barry and Wendy Martin.

Andover Seniors forget to file those applications for the Andover Educational Fund awards.

The deadline for the John and Eunice Fox Prize Scholarship, the Sweatt Family Memorial Scholarship, and the Anna Thurston Award are May 15.

The Cutting Endowment Scholarship deadline is July 1. Call Sharon at 392-4351 or email at edfunda megalink.net for more information.

The Hanover Planning Board met on Wednesday, May 2, They approved a driveway permit in the Shoreland Zone on South Shore Road for Ed Turgeon. Also approved was an application for a woodshed within the Shoreland Zone at the Main Street residence of Norm and Barbara Ferguson. On May 16, the Board will have a workshop session and the next Planning Board meeting will be Wednesday, June 6.

The annual Hanover cleanup day was a huge success this year. Work was accomplished all over town with a very ambitious crew. Helping during the day were Barb and Irv Robinson, David Wainwright, Kelly Harrington. Brenda Gross, Frank Morrison, Bruce Powell, Donna and Clem Worcester, Kaylynn Worcester, Brad Taylor, Billy Benson, Mark McKenna, Wilfred Merrill, Ryan Brown and Herb and Dotty Adams. Raking took place at the Town Office, the Boat Ramp and the Hanover Town House. Litter was picked up along Route 2 and all the books at Gardner Roberts Memorial Library were moved from the library to the Hanover Fire House. The books were moved in preparation of moving the library building, which should happen soon. Following work all enjoyed a barbecue under the direction of Chef Bruce

The Rumford Grange at Rumford Center will have a Smothered Beef Dinner, open to the public, or, Sunday, May 20, at the Grange Hall from noon until 1:30 p.m.

The ice went out of Howard Pond on Thursday, May 3. Several warmer, sunny days with high winds pushed the ice into the shore where it disintegrated, Even before the ice was completely out the loons returned.

Sadly we report that Lorraine Gallant passed away Sunday morning, May 6, at Rumford Hospital. A lifelong resident of Hanover, with her husband, Albert, raised their family of five children at their Mill Hill Road (formerly Cross Road) home in Hanover. Albert passed away many years ago. She was the daughter of Nery and Ida Babineau. She was 81 years old and lived by herself until a recent illness.

Warren and Marcia Stearns have returned home from Florida, as have Dick and Barbara Burns. Barbara Lapham and Harold Carver have also returned from the South.

Kim Hodgkins and her daughter, Hannah, have moved from their Mill Hill Road home to the Portland

At the West Paris Universalist Church on Sunday, May 13. Shirley Miller will be the guest speaker. The service is at 9 a.m. Jim Burke is organist. A coffee hour follows.

Early mornings have been cool and pleasant for walking all this week. There are three to five walkers out getting their exercise on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. There should be more now that most are back from the winter in Florida. We have missed seyeral mornings the past two months because of the rain and biting winds. March and April were too unpleasant to get out early.

Sayward and Cynthia Lamb have returned to their camp on North Pond. The road has been wet and muddy so they had to spend two weeks at Jim Lamb's in Oxford.

Milton and Eleanor Inman are at their camp on Greenwood City Pond. The two couples flew home together.

Muffin is doing well and is content here with me. She gets her exercise by running from one end of the house to the other. She has two small, round cloth mice and keeps putting them in her water dish, They dry quickly, then she gives them another dunking. She eats mostly dry food but teases for the canned foods. She gets a small amount of canned food at mealtime. The refrigerator door and the can opener call her to the kitchen.

On Thursday, May 10 (today), at the Whitman Memorial Library, the guest speaker will be Jim Mason of West Paris, who will talk on his antler creations. He makes all sorts of things from antlers he finds or has been given to him. This program starts at 10 a.m. and there is no charge. Everyone is welcome. Light refreshments will be served.

Services at the Baptist Church are Sunday School at 9:15 a.m., morning worship at 10:30 a.m., youth group at 4 p.m., choir practice at 5 p.m. and evening service at 6 p.m. Wednesday evening at 6:30 is prayer meeting.

The Woodstock Extension will meet on Wednesday, May 16, at 10:30 a.m. for a greenhouse tour and a picnic. The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens met on Thursday, May 3, at the Grange Hall with 25 members present. A delicious dinner was served by the Franklin Grange and the program was put on by the Woodstock Elementary School's Grade 4 and 5 band. They did a very good job. During the meeting it was voted to go out to eat in June. The door prize went to Lucy Robbins. Our July meeting will be at Locke Mills with the Fire Department Auxiliary doing the dinner at the Town Hall. The Peter Emmons Award presentation and supper was held at CMVTC in Berlin. N.H. The supper was cooked and served by the freshman class. The award (51-piece knife set in its briefcase) was presented to James Scharnowski of Jackson, N.H. Those attending were Mary Emmons, James and Belinda Hagar, Jerrold Emmons, Jett Mcaffrety, Larry and Cathy Walton, Geffrey and Heidi Inman, Heather Inman, Armond Deschene, Scott and Diana Landry.

Historical Society

The Historical Society hopes you will visit its museum some Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m. in June. They have many collections of tins, costume jewelry, postcards and foreign coins. It has exhibits on millwork and farming in Woodstock years ago and household items and photos of stores in the past. Children's lives are reflected with a crib and assorted toys. They have a very elegant wedding dress as well as other costumes and uniforms. A quilt collection was donated by Woodstock citizens. There are hundreds of artifacts relating to the town of Woodstock. In fact, they never turn away any that are offered to them. Their dedication to reflecting the life of the community is absolute.

The Research Library has many books on Maine and New England. They are generally profusely illustrated, so it's a real pleasure to go through them. Curator Larry Billings gave the society an emerald mineral specimen.

Larry Billings visited the Baptist Church last Sunday. He talked to Beth Hoyt Hoover, who now has a shop in Bryant Pond. Bryant Pond does not have many businesses, so try to patronize those you can or encourage their owners. Larry recently visited the Mineral Collection, for example, and has been in both convenience stores. Occasionally he takes bottles to the Redemption Store and the society got oil from Woodstock Oil this year.

May has dawned and it is beautiful and sunny. Now they are whining about fire danger but at least some of the mold is drying out in the woods and the pastures as well as our houses.

The birds are happy and singing early in the a.m. Today we had a pair of grosbeaks at 6 a.m. One was squawking to his mate/friend to come and get it. They were followed by goldfinches, but it was too early for most of them to arrive. It is great to watch while still lying in bed.

Dave and I went to that symposium at Sugarloaf and learned all about the latest in dealing with trash. We both came home sick from the food, dirt and mold at that place. We did learn a little about trash and the latest trends. The big thing is Single Stream Recycling. That means that all the recycling will go in one bin - 1 a big one - and then it would ... get carted away and sorted, at its destination. The town , would make no money on it, nor would Oxford County Recycling. The town would pay a to have it hauled. The theory of is that our recycling would. double and the trash would decrease. The result is that g it would cost less to have the trash hauled, but we might... make up for it in the cost tohave the recycling hauled. In am still not sure it is the best .: way for the town to go. I have to see more numbers first.

Oxford County is running a... Hidden Heroes contest. I like in that. We can name someone. we think is an unrecognized., hero. They can be nominated starting now. The letters can be sent to Hidden Heroes Project, PO Box 619, Norway ME 04268. Include the nominee's, full name, address, age, and, phone numeral and why they; are being nominated. Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

The Bethel Area Chamber has asked the Trails Committee to make a presentation at the upcoming monthly Networking Breakfast, which is scheduled for Wednesday, May 16, in the Gibson Room at the Bethel Inn Resort.

Kirk Siegel, one of the conveners of the group, has asked the owners of Morton Trails, LLC to do the presentation. Anyone from our communities is welcomed to attend this breakfast, but an RSVP is required by Tuesday, May 15, by calling the chamber office, 824-2282. An $8 buffet breakfast will be served and the fee will be collected at the door.

On any particular day, the Bethel Recreational Path will be utilized by people of every age, from young mothers with babies in carriages to senior citizens with walkers, from teenagers on skateboards to small children learning to ride their bikes without training wheels for the first time. It has been an investment that has proven itself as benefiting everyone.

The Bethel Area Trails, a committee of the Mahoosuc Land Trust, is comprised of a group of individuals who have the vision to expand the recreational trail to connect it to other area assets: Angevine Park swimming pond, Telstar High School, Bethel village and Crescent Park School and Sunday River Ski Resort. The group is currently working with landowners and developers, businesses, municipal leaders, and our educational community, to find ways that best serve the broad needs of all these constituencies.

David Lindahl is a principal of Morton Trails, LLC, a recreational trail design firm that has developed both skiing and multi-use trail systems at venues ranging from South Korea to rural Vermont and the Maine Winter Sports Center.

The presentation will include an overview of data on how various recreational amenities enhance real estate values, the unique appeal of highquality trails to the retiring "boomer" population, and specific experience with integrating trails into subdivisions and land development plans.

Founded by Olympic biathlon skier and coach John Morton, the firm has developed trails for private landowners, for municipalities and schools, as well as competition venues for major international events like the World University Games and Biathlon World Cups. These include trails throughout northern New England, and in Wisconsin, Michigan, Utah, Alaska and South Korea, In the spring of 2002 John Morton was part of an international team of consultants asked to assist with the planning of the new Cairngorms National Park in the Scottish Highlands.

After this presentation and a question and answer session, the other Bethel area businesses and organizations will have an opportunity do a quick update on what is going on in their "world." Again, an RSVP for those wishing to attend must be received at the chamber office by May 15.

Recycled 103.98 tons of paper product saving 1,767 trees. It takes 17 average-sized trees to make one ton of paper, Shipped 103.98 tons of material at an estimated sale value of $12,514. Estimated cost to trash the same 103.98 tons of material, $9,358.20 (based on average tipping and hauling fee of $90 per ton). Estimated avoided cost for April, $21,872,20.

Shipped 22.51 tons of corrugated cardboard with an estimated sale value of $2,700.

Shipped 41.12 tons of newspapers, magazines and junk mail with an estimated sale value of $4,772, Shipped 20.08 tons of noncorrugated at an estimated sale value of $1,600.

Shipped 20.27 tons of office paper at an estimated sale value of $3,442.

Congratulations to the following recycling teams: Stoneham/Waterford for packing five out of five cardboard containers weighing in at over 1,000 pounds each; Tri-Town for packing five out of seven cardboard containers weighing in at over 1,000 pounds each; Greenwood/Woodstock for packing three out of four cardboard containers weighing in at over 1,000 pounds each; West Paris for packing one out of four cardboard containers weighing in at over 1,000 pounds each; and Gould Academy for packing one out of one container weighing in at over 1,000 pounds.

Packing cardboard containers with over 1,000 pounds is time consuming. Hauling a fully loaded container to the recycling plant in Norway/ Paris is cost efficient for the Corporation. We appreciate your efforts.

Congratulations to Tri-Town (Bethel, Hanover, and Newry) for saving your taxpayers over $2,000 in April due to recycling more and trashing less. For the next eight months it will cost your towns $0 per ton to recycle and over $100 per ton to trash the same material.

Please think twice as to which container you throw your disposables into.

If it's recyclable please put it into the appropriate recycling container in order to continue to save money.

As the figures show, recycling does pay. Thank you for your participation.

Gould Academy

The Gould Spring Musical, "Pippin," hits the stage this Thursday and Saturday evenings at 7:30 p.m. in Bingham Auditorium on Church Street, Come see Gould's ensemble cast perform this hip, tongue-in-cheek fairy tale that follows Pippin, the son of the Roman emperor Charlemagne, on his quest for happiness and meaning in life.

The show, composed by Stephen Schwartz ("Godspell" and "Wicked"), ran for five years on Broadway. Set in the dazzling court of the 8th Century Holy Roman Emperor, the show features an outstanding score, that includes pop-influenced ballads and dance numbers.

Admission is free, and the public is welcome. For more information call 824-7700.

THS Varsity Softball

Telstar 2, Lisbon 1; May 8—Candace Hall threw her second no-hitter of the season as the Rebels rallied for a 2-1 win over a strong Lisbon team. Megan Smith's two-out triple scored Vicki Rice in the sixth inning and Abby Hutchins doubled and scored the winning run when Lisbon committed an error on Julia Stambolis; ball to centerfield. Joseline Belanger and Julia Stambolis made strong defensive plays to keep the no-hitter alive for Candace. Abby Hutchins, Vicki Rice and Candace Hall had two hits each for the Rebels. —coach Jim Lunney

Telstar 5, Madison 3; May 4—Telstar beat Madison behind the 6 hits pitching of Candace Hall and the three hits and three runs of Josie Reiss. Julia Stambolis had a big two-run double in the first inning to put the Rebels ahead and Whitney Mills added an insurance run with an RBI single in the sixth inning. The defense played well again, led by Abby Hutchins in left, Josie Reiss in center and Sarah Field and Joseline Belanger in the infield. -coach Jim Lunney Telstar 7, Dirigo 5; May 5-.. Telstar built a 7-0 lead through timely hits and walks and passed balls. The Cougars had five hits in their last at bat to close the gap. Whitney Mills led the defense as the Rebels increased their season record to 6-0.

Boys' Varsity Lacrosse

Kents Hill 13, Gould 7; May 7-Kents Hill won in an up and down game. The Gould squad struck first with three unanswered goals, but Kents Hill battled back to bring the score to a 3-3 tie at the end of the first quarter. The second and third quarters belonged to Kents Hill who opened up a 5 goal lead going into the fourth quarter. Gould rallied in the beginning of the final quarter but Kents Hill proved too much for the Huskies despite their exhausting and courageous effort. Gould's defense played a heroic game with Willie Courtney '07, Andrew Young '08, and Milo MacPhail '07 taking most of the duty. Additional contributions from Alden Young '07, Scot Baribeau '09, and Max Zotz '07 rounded out the defensive squad. Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

Raul T. Burlin, Ph.D, professor of history and interim dean, College of Arts and Sciences, University of New England in Biddeford, will present on Thursday, May 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Dr. Moses Mason House Meeting Room the first of the 2007 series of leefures sponsored by the Bethel Historical Society. This year's series is titled, "Maine Character and Characters."

Burlin's topic will be "Maine-Hawaiian Connections," which will explore the numerous 19th family ties between Maine the 23rd state in the Union and the most recent, Hawaii, which was the 50th to enter the Union.

The speaker's book on this topic appeared last year and provides numerous insights on how Maine people influenced the history and development of a place so far from the Pine Tree State.

Professor Burlin received his undergraduate degree in Philosophy from Heidelberg College and his Ph.D. in American History from Rutgers University. Upon graduation from college, he served in the Peace Corps in Micronesia, where he developed an interest in American imperialism, particularly in the Pacific. Many of his publications through the years relate to this theme of imperialism. Burlin lives in Portland with his wife and two sons. On June 1, he will be on a 15-month sabbatical working on several new scholarly projects.

The lecture is free and is made possible in part by a grant from the Maine wishing to learn more about the character of Maine and its influence in the wider world is cordially invited to attend.

Western Maine Cultural Alliance

ThewebsiteofWesternMaine Cultural Alliance (WMCA) www.westernmaineculture. org, now offers voices from the past through audio downloads. See: www. westernmaineculture.org/ WMCA_folklore. The audio selections were created as MP3 files and are part of a multi-media presentation on the folklore page of the site; "Enjoy a Taste of Western Maine Folklore."

Creating the downloads was made possible, in part, by a grant from Maine Humanities and from support Humanities Council, Anyone by Lake Region TV where digitizing and editing was done.

Much of the material was selected from The Oxford Hills Oral History Project conducted between 1989 and 1991 by local historian Peter Lenz.

Interviewees were born around the turn of the 20th century and reminisced about the numerous changes in their lives. Lives lived before telephones, cars and numerous other things we take for granted. There are also a few excerpts from a folklore project conducted by folklorist Jo Radner on behalf of WMCA in 2002.

WMCA Director Toni Seger said she regards the audio project as very important because it both preserved the past and made it much more accessible, "Tape deteriorates over time in ways digital files don't," says Seger. "Tapes can also be lost or damaged," she adds. "These excerpts are very short, but they're rich with information about another time and are filled with emotion,"

Excerpts range from a 90year-old woman recalling childhood mischief taking coins from her mother's purse and spending it on candy to a veteran remembering trying to celebrate Christmas overseas in World War II.

The WMCA website, which is a virtual location for arts and culture in western Maine, also includes an Artist's sampler page with exhibitors from four counties from York to Franklin, searchable data bases and other features.

REAL ESTATE AD DEADLINE: FRIDAY AT NOON

BEFORE BUYING A HOME!

Where do you start when you are ready to buy a home? Before you begin looking for a home, you have to make some decisions. You need to decide what is important to you when purchasing your home. Before starting out on your home search it is a good idea to sit down and develop a list of what is important and what would you like in your new home. Your list could include schools, neighborhood, amenities, number of bedrooms, number of baths, a basement, a separate dining room, 2story family room or foyer, one level ranch plan, master bedroom on the main level, special financing, seller willing to cover closing costs and the list goes on and on.

An experienced buyer real estate agent can help you through the pro-cess. There is no such thing as a perfect house, therefore once you have developed your list you should begin to prioritize it. You can prioritize into, "must have", "should have" and "would be nice to have". By having a clear understanding what you want in your new home, and the priority of those items, you will be in a much better position to decide whether you want to put an offer on a house you see and like. It is also a good idea to consider whether you want to purchase a new or pre-owned home.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

WATER, WATER EVERYWHERE? Sometimes there are defects in a house that the homeowners no longer notice, such as small leaks in the roof or a basement that gets damp when it rains. When the house is on the market, homeowners may not have a sense of urgency about having such defects repaired. The Realtor feels quite differently, however.

Any kind of water problem may appear to be much more serious than it really is. The sellers may regard a damp basement as simply a sign that it's time to clean the gutters and check the soil buildup around the house. A leaking roof may be seen as a call for new flashing. But to someone who has never owned a home, these defects can be taken as signs that the house may not fulfill their primary need for shelter from "the alements". Popula are likely to refuse to huy a from "the elements." People are likely to refuse to buy a house if they think it won't keep them perfectly dry.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771

bituaries

GERTRUDE N. LOKKEN Gertrude N. Lokken, age 85, of Casco, passed away on Wednesday May 2, 2007 at Bridgton Hospital.

She was born on Sept. 3, 1921 in Buxton, the daughter of Earl Sr. and Adah (Grant) Richards. She graduated from Hollis High School and was the first woman drill press operator in Saco Lowell Shops. She married Edwin Lokken from Minnesota on June 22, 1944 during World War II. They made their home in Portland for 30 years.

She worked for W.T. Grant Co. in Portland for many years and later for the IGA Store in Windham, They moved to their summer home in Casco

She was a life member of Pleasant River Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, a member of the American Legion Auxiliary Post 155 in Naples, and the Casco Senior Citizens where she was an avid cribbage player. She also loved her CB friends where she was known as "mother nature."

She is survived by her children, Lynda Lokken Springer and her husband Malcolm of Wiscasset, Leonard Lokken and his wife Carol of Englewood, Fla., Lori Lokken Robinson and her husband Philip E. II of Naples, Lars Lokken and his wife Betsy Field of Newry; nine grandchildren; Kelly J. Breceda and her husband Jerry of Gulfport, Miss., Kris Lokken of Norway, Philip E. Mr. & Mrs. Nathan L. Walker

Brody James Lucas Walker wishes to announce the wedding of his parents, Whitny Lynn Weeks, daughter of Jim and Norma Palmer of South Paris and Nathan Lucas Walker, son of Donald and Teresa Walker of East Bethel, on March 26, 2007 at The Bethel Inn, Bethel.

Shelly Kennagh served as maid of honor and Justin Kennison as best man. Lauren Merrill (daughter of Jimmy and Mary Merrill) and Brody Walker (4-1/2 month old son of Nathan and Whitny) was ring bearer (with a little help from Nicena Walker, sister of the groom).

The ceremony, performed by Ellie Andrews, took place in front of a lovely fireplace at the inn, after which cake and drinks were enjoyed by all.
